Beginning in May, 1956, the library has been open three afternoons a week. This was decided upon by the trustees with the idea of giving as much service as possible to the community. That their decision was justified has been proven by the increased number of borrowers and a corresponding increase in the book and magazine circulation.

The trustees and librarian realize fully that much of the progress made was possible because of the generosity and interest shown by friends of the library.

During the summer two successful food sales were held. The money received was used for the purchase of books.

The Marshall P. Wilder Grange gave a sum of money which was used for new reference books.

Through the kindness of Mrs. Leo MacInnis a bulletin board was added in the Children's room. Mrs. Marshall Danforth and Mrs. Donald Bailey gave a most attractive box to be used for the Book Fund contributions, Mrs. Douglas Sloane presented some fine sea shells from Florida.

Many other gifts of money, books, magazines, and newspapers have been received from the following patrons of the library:

Prof. Douglas Adams, Mrs. Arthur Allen, Mrs. Edward Brummer, Mrs. Emma Brodmerkel, Mrs. Wallace Coates, Jr., Mrs. Clara Cleaves, Miss Eula Ferguson, Miss Florence French, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Ford, Mrs. Fred Howard, Mrs. Rebbecca Higgins, Mrs. Dora Harris, Mrs. George Jacques, Mrs. William Lloyd, Mrs. Alfred Merchant, Miss Alice Morgan, Mrs. Ralph Pangborn, Miss Betsy Pangborn, Miss Marcia Richardson, Susan and Thomas Sargent, Mr. and Mrs. Richard R. Smith, Mr. Harry Sherwin, Mrs. Douglas Sloane, Mrs. Walter Troup, Mrs. Ann Webber, Mr. George Wallace, Misses Marilyn and Sylvia White, Miss Meda Wellington, Mrs. Robert Whitney.

A large painting, a primitive of the early days of Rindge, was loaned to the library by Mr. Nelson White. The artist was Mr. Allen White. It is hung in the Symons Room and has been of much interest to many viewers.

In November an Arts and Crafts exhibit was held. The work of men and women of Rindge, it showed the versatile talents of our townspeole, and added much to the pleasure of a visit to the library. At the same time the children showed some of the work they had been doing in their Art Classes. This exhibition was in the children's room and made a very attractive display.

During the summer, Mr. Charles Maurer, Jr., our regional librarian, spent several days discarding worn and obsolete books. The shelving was then reorganized giving more efficiency to the basic arrangement and providing much needed space for new books.

To the trustees, to Mr. Crowell, and to the many friends of the library, I extend my appreciation and thanks for their helpfulness.

Respectfully submitted,

CARRIE S. GRAY

B. PROGRAM AND METHODS

Three changes were made in the teaching staff this year. Mr. Robert J. Shea became principal and teacher of grades five and six, Mrs. Dorothy Ann Ilg was employed as teacher of grades two and three, and Mrs. Ruth L. Lavine as teacher of grades one and two. Mrs. Jaques continues as teacher of grades four and five. Mr. Gerald A. Miller replaced Mr. Bostrom as art supervisor.

In grades one and two special emphasis was given to the instruction of reading.

Mrs. Ilg reports that she has been working with her boys and girls in grades two and three to develop the use of facts to analyze situations and problems as they occur in everyday life.

Children in the fourth and fifth grades along with learning to read fluently, speak correctly, and figure rapidly and accurately are developing in musical skills this year. They have learned to read notes to the point where they are beginning to sing two-part music. They are also developing skill in playing the flutophone.

Mr. Shea, the principal, in his report emphasizes the faculty's realization of the importance of the total development of boys and girls. He says, "Activities in addition to the skill subjects are included in the school program. It is through these activities that we have an opportunity to see personality and character development in the process. This type of activity is being conducted at all levels of the school program."

A few of these activities are assemblies, clubs, publications, social activities, field trips, and athletics.

PART VI. AUXILIARY ACTIVITIES AND SPECIAL REPORTS

A. HEALTH

The aims of the School Health services in the Rindge School are at keeping the children well, helping promote normal growth, and correcting any conditions which might prevent their best work in school.

By appointment of the school board, Dr. Franklin Sterling continues as School Physician, carrying out his policy of examining the odd numbered grades every year so that each child receives an examination every other year. He also examines other pupils as the need arises.

The school physician's examination consists of a check of the chest including heart and lungs. He checks nose and throat, ears and eyes and gives special attention to dental conditions. He notes general appearance of skin and nutrition as well as posture. Each boy is checked for possible hernia or genital abnormalities.

The school doctor does not treat or prescribe. If any condition is found the parents are notified to take their child to their own physician or dentist for treatment.

The doctor is available for advice in epidemics or emergencies. He gives the immunizing shots in disease prevention programs such as Salk Polio Vaccine, Diptheria, Whooping-cough, Tetanus shots, and in few cases needing small-pox vaccination for under privileged pupils.

The services of a full-time nurse are provided by the school board. Some of her duties are:

To see that each child has a disease census and health record card.

To carry out the inspection of all pupils. To assist the school physician in the examination of the pupils in the odd numbered grades, followed by notices to parents and by home visits or phone calls.

To conduct vision and hearing tests and carry out necessary follow up work to help with corrections.

To stimulate interest and assist at all clinics; dental; T.B.; eye; immunization etc.

To assist in the control of communicable disease through teaching the recognition of early symptoms, the importance of isolation and the value of immunization.

To inspect pupils and take heights and weights and record all data on the health record cards.

To make monthly reports and records.

To show the value of adequate health supervision and facilities for medical aid and to assist in securing the correction of defects.

To help conduct the spring round-up and enrollment of entering pupils, with a health history entered on the health record card, as well as a screening of vision, hearing and general health.

To develop relationships and to coordinate school health activities with resources of school, home, and community.

To act as visiting teacher, the link between home and school.

COMMUNICABLE DISEASE CONTROL

We still have problems with communicable disease including colds. Children who show symptoms of communicable disease should remain at home. Sending a half sick child to school for the nurse to inspect is dangerous to the child and exposes others to the infection before the ill child can be returned to the parent.

The child should not be sent to school with one or more of the symptoms of a communicable disease:

Sneezing and coughing; a newly wet running nose; red watery eyes; sore or inflamed throat; headache; vomiting; or general malaise. Fever or rash should be looked upon as signs of communicable disease.

Children who come in busses should have careful inspection before leaving home and should be kept home if they show any symptoms of illness. The close contact involved in transporting such children and the difficulties in returning them home call for the closest cooperation.

DENTAL CLINIC

A dental clinic sponsored by the Rindge School Board in cooperation with the State Board of Health Dental Services was conducted with a limited budget. It enabled 21 pupils to have dental work done with 11 completed. There were 34 appointments on 6 half days. About 10 children were not completed when the money was spent.

SALK POLIO IMMUNIZATION

Salk Polio shots were administered to 146 school and preschool children by Dr. Sterling. Second and third shots are now available. There had been one case of polio reported on a school child, which helped to stimulate interest in prevention.

B. HELPING TEACHER'S REPORT

A DAY WITH THE HELPING TEACHER

by Robert L. Filbin

Monday morning starts bright and early for the Helping Teacher as it does for any teacher. At breakfast his head is full of things that are to be accomplished or worked on during the week.

Between eight and nine o'clock he is at his desk in the Supervisory Union Office to see what correspondence and telephone messages are to be answered. There are letters concerning an appointment for a child at Winant House which must be confirmed, another requesting copies of report cards shows that other people are interested in improving their marking system; here's one asking for a rating of a teacher who was employed in his school system the previous year. Here's a note from a teacher in one of the outlying towns requesting that the Helping Teacher bring supplementary materials for pupils in her class when he visits her school the next day.

The office secretary has noted calls from the school nurse who wishes to discuss a problem in health education — another from a teacher at a neighboring private school looking for information on the handwriting system used in the supervisory union schools and one from a parent requesting a conference regarding her child who is having problems with his reading. When these have been dispatched with there is a nine o'clock appointment at the local high school with the principal and two shop teachers to discuss requisitions for supplies and the course of study for the shop classes. This lasts until 10:15 when the Helping Teacher is scheduled to visit a fifth grade class to observe a reading group at the request of the classroom teacher to listen to two particular children read. The teacher has been puzzled as to what to do about these children who had not been developing as she had hoped they would and she would like his advice as to what to do about them. At eleven he drops into the classroom of a new teacher to see how she is making out with her teaching and classroom management. He observes the teacher, takes time to make some comment and suggestions and then it is time for lunch. Today he will eat with the high school principal and the math teacher who want to talk about a special project she would like to start. After lunch he is scheduled to visit an elementary school in an adjoining town for general observation. Here he visits, talks with the principal, the teachers, the boys and girls — observing the work that is being done and answering questions which the teachers have. He is scheduled to meet with these teachers at the close of school, but time out at three o'clock to have a cup of coffee in the teachers' room and to talk informally about the day's work. They have been working on an evaluation of their school curriculum under his supervision. This is the second meeting and three teachers present reports on their teaching activities. These are followed by group discussion and evaluation and suggestions for the next meeting.

By this time it is four forty-five — time to check in at the office to sign correspondence, look at the afternoon mail and have a chat with the Superintendent about the day's observations. The day ends at five o'clock or sometimes after — no — there's a special school board meeting this evening. That may end at nine or perhaps eleven.

The days are varied but for the main part are made up of events as described above.

The Helping Teacher reads and studies to keep abreast of current trends. He participates in community activities and takes the opportunity to meet and talk with the parents and citizens of the community. He works with representatives of the press to help acquaint the public with the good things that are going on in the schools he serves.

In addition to making contributions to the literature, preparing bulletins and other publications for use in the schools, he makes evaluative studies and conducts experimental projects in the schools with the improvement of instructional practices in mind.

Constantly the Helping Teacher is moving among teachers and principals. He is aware of the problems which face teachers and he must be prepared to help them find solutions to these problems. That is his job.
